Job Description

IACP EXECUTIVE SEARCH

Superintendent of Police

New Orleans, Louisiana

The City of New Orleans, Louisiana seeks an experienced and innovative law enforcement executive of unquestionable integrity to serve as superintendent of police. The successful candidate will be a collaborative leader whose management, communication, and strategic planning skills will combine to effectively drive the New Orleans Police Department toward the delivery of police services that lead to reductions in violent crime.

CITY OF NEW ORLEANS

As one of the oldest and most unique cities in the United States, New Orleans is a cosmopolitan city with a rich history and a diverse culture. With more than 300,000 residents, it is the largest city in Louisiana and home to one of the world's largest and busiest ports. Since Hurricane Katrina in 2005, New Orleans has worked hard to rebuild its infrastructure and recover as a community. While the robust rebuilding effort has helped to insulate the city from the economic downturn, many challenges remain for both the city and its police department.

NEW ORLEANS POLICE DEPARTMENT

The New Orleans Police Department has 1,850 full time employees serving a jurisdiction of 180 square miles. The department's mission is to provide professional police services to the public in order to maintain order and protect life and property. NOPD is pledged to protect and serve through the core beliefs of integrity, fairness, and service.

The superintendent of police reports to the mayor and oversees the department's operating budget of $118 million and its six bureaus: investigations, operations, criminal intelligence, policy and review, public integrity, and support and administration.

REQUIREMENTS

Candidates must possess a bachelor's degree from an accredited college or university. A master's degree is strongly preferred. An additional preferred qualification is evidence of continuing training and self-development such as graduation from the FBI National Academy or other police leadership development program.

The successful candidate must have a minimum of 10 years' law enforcement experience at the command level, preferably in an urban environment and must demonstrate compelling results in the reduction of violent crime. City leaders and the community expect the next superintendent to possess superior executive capacity in:

- Community/Neighborhood Policing
- Gauging public satisfaction
- Information sharing and the application of new technologies
- Inter-agency and community collaboration
- Internal affairs, discipline, and civil rights issues
- Training, staff, and leadership development
- Leading large scale special events
- Emergency management, i.e. natural disasters
- Policing diverse populations

SALARY

The annual salary range for this position is competitive and based on experience and qualifications.
