

14 January 2013

To Lycee Board of Directors,
Lycee Faculty & Staff
John White, Superintendent Education LDE,
Caroline Roemer, Executive Director La. Charter School Assn., Joseph Dunn, Executive Director,
CODOFIL

This letter is in response to the recent petition of grievances by the group "Rebuilding Trust." We believe the Trust group's negative petition does not represent a majority of the Lycee community's opinion. There are over 600 parents at Lycee; only 15 individuals signed the January 11th petition. In fact, we feel that the petition is divisive and misguided.

There is no doubt that the school has faced challenges, but when faced with challenges, the School leadership responded in a positive manner. Here are a few important developments:

The board hired a CPA to balance the budget.

Following the resignation of the General Director, the Board promptly hired a new Academic Director and Interim CEO to provide critical leadership. This new director has improved communication and met regularly with the Lycee community.

The new interim CEO secured a replacement teacher for the unexpected loss of the 1A first grade teacher.

The new interim CEO secured a new a special education coordination team.

Our teachers have provided a thriving environment for our children. We agree with Superintendent White's assessment of Lycee Francais de la Nouvelle Orléans: "The school remains an important piece of the education renaissance in our great city." We look forward and embrace the opportunity to build a premier public immersion school.

1. Alison D'Antonio Briuglio
2. Joshua S Reyher
3. Kimberly Davis Reyher
4. Jennifer J. Teague
5. Julie Barecki Brown
6. Derek Brown

7. Michael H. Pinkerton
8. Shane Finkelstein
9. Kim Burgau
10. Stephen Holzenthal
11. Kristi Trentecosta
12. Chris Trentecosta
13. Kathleen Ramsey
14. Nicole Morrill
15. Daniel Morrill
16. Julie Holzenthal
17. Mike Napolitano
18. Ani DiFranco
19. Claudia Elliott
20. Jonathan E. Ley
21. Dani Galloway
22. Robert Galloway
23. Jesse Elliott
24. Taryn Wiseman
25. Francine J. Stock
26. Jessamyn Cameron
27. Charles Cameron
28. Scott McKearn
29. Sara Mayeux
30. Melisa Rey
31. Tom Rey
32. Caroline Champion
33. Eva Raines
34. Jeff Raines
35. John Carlson
36. Iyana Connors
37. Ernesto Montano
38. Zoe Miles
39. Paige Saleun
40. Jacques Saleun
41. Allen Amundson Jr.
42. Sharon Wiseman
43. Jack Wiseman
44. Sam Briuglio
45. Crista Madison
46. Kristin Casemore
47. Mark Casemore
48. Jim MacPhaille
49. Elda Fairchild

50. Daisy Pate
51. Sheila Sundar
52. Aaron DeLong
53. Angela Trotter
54. Mark Yakich
55. Annie Goldman
56. Andrew Carstens
57. Gina Huth
58. Meredith Pinkerton
59. Monica Meheaffie
60. Douglas Mehaffie
61. Megan Bonser
62. David Rubin

To Lycee Board of Directors,
Lycee Faculty & Staff
John White, Superintendent Education LDE,
Caroline Roemer, Executive Director La. Charter School Assn., Joseph Dunn, Executive Director,
CODOFIL,

This letter is in response to the recent petition of grievances by the group "Rebuilding Trust." We believe the Trust group's negative petition does not represent a majority of the Lycee community's opinion. There are over 600 parents at Lycée; only 15 individuals signed the January 11th petition. In fact, we feel that the petition is divisive and misguided.

There is no doubt that the school has faced challenges, but when faced with challenges, the School leadership responded in a positive manner. Here are a few important developments:

The board hired a CPA to balance the budget.

Following the resignation the General Director, the Board promptly hired a new Academic Director and Interim CEO to provide critical leadership. This new director has improved communication and met regularly with the Lycee community.

The new interim CEO secured a replacement teacher for the unexpected loss of the 1A first grade teacher.

The new interim CEO secured a new a special education coordination team.

Our teachers have provided a thriving environment for our children. We agree with Superintendent White's assessment of Lycée Français de la Nouvelle Orléans: "The school remains an important piece of the education renaissance in our great city." We look forward and embrace the opportunity to create.

Tricia Burkett

Aidan (1A) & Ava (1D) Burkett

2011 - present

To Lycee Board of Directors,
Lycee Faculty & Staff
John White, Superintendent Education LDE,
Caroline Roemer, Executive Director La. Charter School Assn.,
Joseph Dunn, Executive Director, CODOFIL,

This letter is in response to the recent petition of grievances by the group "Rebuilding Trust." We believe the Trust group's negative petition does not represent a majority of the Lycee community's opinion. There are over 600 parents at Lycée; only 15 individuals signed the January 11th petition. In fact, we feel that the petition is divisive and misguided.

There is no doubt that the school has faced challenges, but when faced with challenges, the School leadership responded in a positive manner. Here are a few important developments:

The board hired a CPA to balance the budget.

Following the resignation the General Director, the Board promptly hired a new Academic Director and Interim CEO to provide critical leadership. This new director has improved communication and met regularly with the Lycee community.

The new interim CEO secured a replacement teacher for the unexpected loss of the 1A first grade teacher.

The new interim CEO secured a new a special education coordination team.

Our teachers have provided a thriving environment for our children. We agree with Superintendent White's assessment of Lycée Francais de la Nouvelle Orléans: "The school remains an important piece of the education renaissance in our great city." We look forward and embrace the opportunity to create.

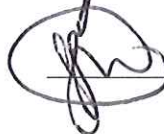

Shane Duvernay

Tabitha Duvernay

Shawn Prew

Victoria Prew

_____

_____

_____

To Lycee Board of Directors,
Lycee Faculty & Staff
John White, Superintendent Education LDE,
Caroline Roemer, Executive Director La. Charter School Assn.,
Joseph Dunn, Executive Director, CODOFIL,

This letter is in response to the recent petition of grievances by the group "Rebuilding Trust." We believe the Trust group's negative petition does not represent a majority of the Lycee community's opinion. There are over 600 parents at Lycée; only 15 individuals signed the January 11th petition. In fact, we feel that the petition is divisive and misguided.

There is no doubt that the school has faced challenges, but when faced with challenges, the School leadership responded in a positive manner. Here are a few important developments:

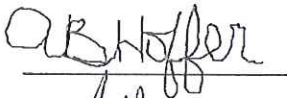

The board hired a CPA to balance the budget.

Following the resignation the General Director, the Board promptly hired a new Academic Director and Interim CEO to provide critical leadership. This new director has improved communication and met regularly with the Lycee community.

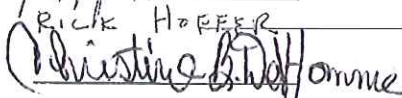

The new interim CEO secured a replacement teacher for the unexpected loss of the 1A first grade teacher.

The new interim CEO secured a new a special education coordination team.

Our teachers have provided a thriving environment for our children. We agree with Superintendent White's assessment of Lycée Francais de la Nouvelle Orléans: "The school remains an important piece of the education renaissance in our great city." We look forward and embrace the opportunity to create.

_____

_____

RIK HOFFER

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____